

The Gold Residence fuses a contemporary aesthetic with the rural vernacular of Northern New Mexico. The rural pitched roof and rammed earth walls are redesigned in a modern manner. Zaguans act as transitional spaces between public and private. Inside, the residence expresses a refined finish to contrast the textured exterior. Passive solar, and water collection ponds, are incorporated to further energy efficiency and rural tradition.

Gold Residence

